

BGS Explanation document

In this prototype I created an itemization system based on scriptable objects to allow me to expand it easily, in which each item will have an index that indicates which layout the player should have (His appearance), that is managed with a list in a script within the player. In this way I am able to create different inventories for each shopkeeper, so they can sell different clothes.